

The Climate Crisis: Trump vs. Truth

And why it matters to students

Wednesday, March 22 7:00-8:30 pm Bernhard Center 157

Come hear about

- The recent climate facts and “alternate facts” from Washington
- The people who will make climate policy decisions in the Trump Administration
- How their decisions will affect WMU students, Kalamazoo residents, and others around the world
- Voices of WMU students concerned about climate change

Free and open to the public

A 10-minute question and answer period will follow each 20-minute presentation

Sponsored by WMU Interdisciplinary Climate Change Working Group, WMU Humanities Center, Department of Biological Sciences, Institute of the Environment and Sustainability, and WMU Change RSO
